

Parenting Support Group

for parents and caretakers of children of all ages

Based off of the parenting model presented in the book, Beyond Consequences, Logic, and Control, this group is designed to help parents and caretakers make healthy and loving connections with their children.

When traditional parenting techniques fail, or make it worse, we often feel overwhelmed and hopeless. This happens because most traditional techniques are fear-based. Too often, these techniques simply create more fear in the parent-child relationship, many times resulting in chaotic and unsafe homes.

Here is your answer! Learn a new ground-breaking parenting approach that has helped even the most difficult of family situations find stability and healing. This "Beyond Consequences" techniques has helped families find the healing that they have been looking for after years of "trying everything and nothing worked."

Read what parents are saying about this style of parenting:

This is an approach that makes sense and could be put into effect without long sessions or extra equipment. Immediate opportunity for results.

This has opened my eyes, has validated my original thoughts, and has given me strength to go home and help my granddaughter positively.

This parenting technique has changed my view of parenting and given me the confidence and hope that traumatized kids can be helped.
